At first, it was just a delay.

A beat too early.

Cold glass.
Warmth that shouldn't be.

I tested it.
Blinked.
Tap on. Tap off.

Covered it.

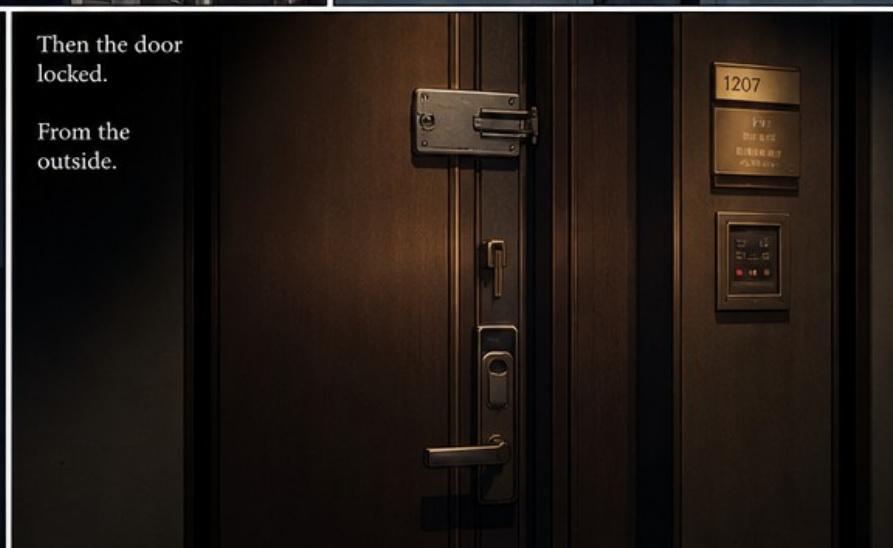

Still there.

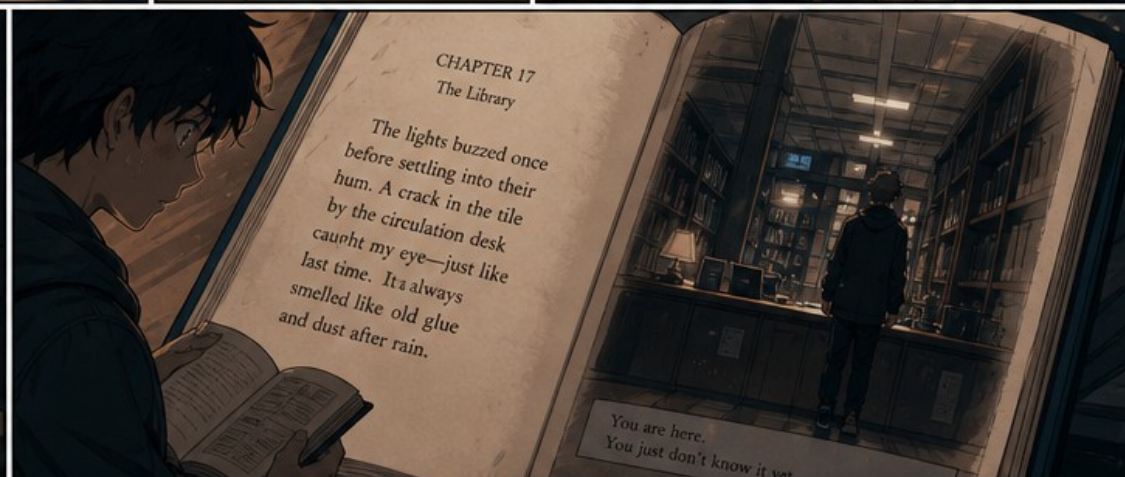

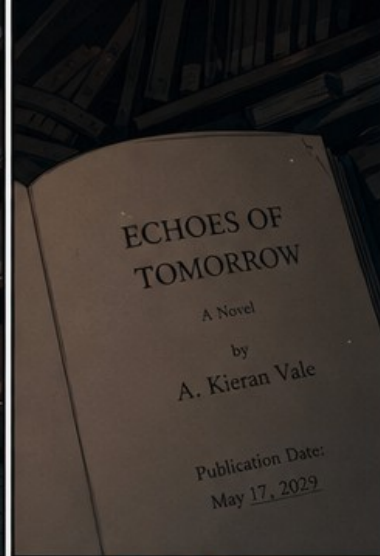

Lips moved.
No sound.

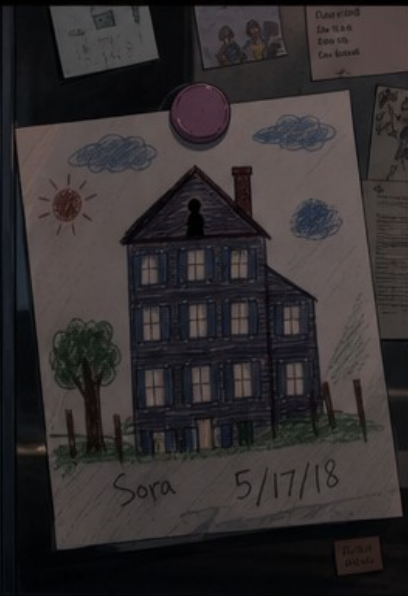

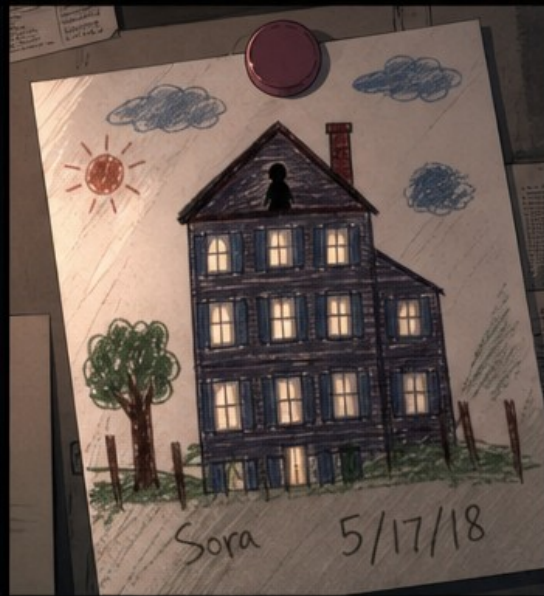

Not here.

Then the door locked.

From the outside.

THIS IS THE SECURITY OFFICE...
I SHOULD FINALLY GET SOME ANSWERS.

TIMESTAMPS...
THEY DON'T MAKE SENSE.

I ENTER
5 MINUTES BEFORE I ACTUALLY ARRIVED?

TO BE CONTINUED...

NOT HAUNTED.
JUST WELL DOCUMENTED.

If you're hearing this,
I already tried to forget.
If you remember too—
listen to all of it.
Don't trust the version downstairs.

THINGS YOU RECOGNIZE BUT CAN'T PLACE.

MEMORIES THAT DON'T BELONG TO ANY TIMELINE YOU TRUST.

THE TAPE STARTS WITH BREATHING.

THEN...

...Have you remembered yet?

—I don't think the version downstairs is stable.
—She functions. Mostly.
—That's not stable.
—It's better than before.
—We agreed: if she asks,
we deny everything.
—The version downstairs cannot know.

IT'S NOT NEW.

IT'S RETURNED.

A FLOORBOARD CREAKS.

SOMEONE ELSE IS HERE.

SOMEONE WHO SHOULDN'T BE.

CRREEEAK...

SOMETHING'S DOWN THERE...

SPLASH?

A TOWEL...?

DRY.
NO FOOTPRINTS.
NO REFLECTION.

NOT REAL.

Still no change.

The city moves.
We don't.

IT'S ALWAYS BEEN LIKE THIS.
JUST... BAD TIMING.

I CROSSED HERE ALREADY.
ENDED UP ON THE OTHER SIDE.

Different lives.
Same silence.
Same message unsent.

WAIT—I HEARD
MY OWN VOICE.

IT SAID, DON'T CROSS.

The ground

We crossed.

But something crossed with us.

THE LANDLORD SAYS THERE'S

NO ONE INSIDE.
NO LIGHTS.
JUST... WAITING.

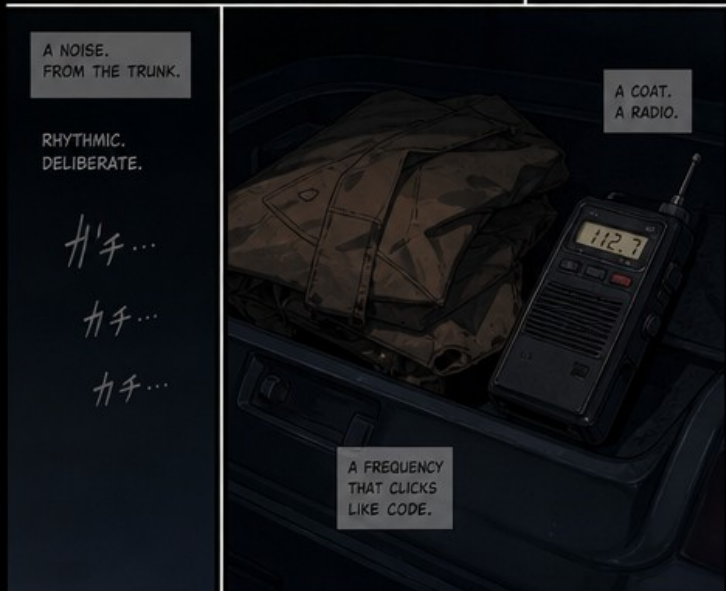

A NOTEBOOK.
PAGES TORN OUT.

A CHILD'S SNEAKER.
CLEAN.

A MAP.
CIRCLED PLACES.
DATES THAT KNOW
MY LIFE.

ALL RECENT.
ALL IN ORDER.

A NOISE.

ROOM 712.

PLEASE REMAIN WHERE YOU ARE.

THERE'S A COMPARTMENT BEHIND THE MUSIC STAND.
I'VE NEVER SEEN IT OPEN BEFORE.

A CASSETTE TAPE.
A KEY.
A PHOTOGRAPH.

EVERYONE'S FACING AWAY EXCEPT ME.
I DON'T REMEMBER THIS RECITAL.

MY EXPRESSION...
I CAN'T PLACE IT.
GRIEF? CONCENTRATION?
SOMETHING ELSE?

I PRESS PLAY.
A SIMPLE PIANO PHRASE.
SLOW. BEAUTIFUL.

(IN THE WRONG ACCENT)

It's strange, coming back.
Everything looks the same,
like it's been waiting.

Too quiet.
Too perfect.
Like it knows something I don't.

The lights.
They all come on.
at the same time.

Like a signal.
Like a decision.

WOOF..

Even the curtains move together.

The door's open.
Just a little.

Like they expected me.

Or forgot I might come.

I called out.

No answer.
Just eyes.

Watching.
Then gone.

Everything's still here.

Like pause was pressed years ago.

But no one ever hit play again.

There I am.
On the edge.

Still part of the picture.

Still outside the memory.

The swing's moving.

But there's no wind.

Footprints.
From the gate to the house.

Then...

They just... stop.

Like whoever came here before me disappeared.

One by one,
the lights go out.

Until it's just my house that remembers
I'm here.

They told me answers only come aloud in places built for silence.

You came.

I was expecting you.

I don't have much time.

I only need fragmented truths.

Fragments are enough when someone else has the whole picture.

You know me?

Who are you?
